LUMEDX Offers Free White Paper:

Knowledge-Driven Cardiovascular Information System Solutions

How the CardioStar Suite Facilitates Full Data Integration Across the Cardiovascular Service Line, Resulting in Higher Quality Care, Efficiency, and Productivity

LUMEDX Corporation, the USA's leading provider of cardiovascular information systems (including PACS), and the No. 1 independent integrator of cardiology information solutions, is offering a free white paper on knowledge-driven solutions for the challenges of cardiovascular data management. Download your free copy at http://www.lumedx.com/forms/white_paper_request.asp

Specifically, the white paper examines 1) the challenges of managing cardiovascular service line information systems – integrating imaging, procedural data, history, and demographics data from disparate systems, and 2) how the Apollo Advance cardiovascular data repository with the CardioStar Productivity Suite form a complete and totally integrated cardiovascular information systems solution, providing hospital leadership and physicians with the information they need to make informed decisions to improve quality care, control costs, maximize third-party reimbursement, and increase volumes.

In addition, the white paper details how each of the following solutions works together to form a comprehensive set of cardiovascular information tools.

- Apollo Advance Cardiovascular Data Repository
- CardioPACS Multi-Modality Imaging
- CardioDoc Physician Documentation & Reporting
- CardioInventory Inventory Management
- CardioManager Outcomes Dashboard
- CardioChart Web-Enabled Patient Record

As the Cardiovascular Roundtable's Cardiac Cost Reform Initiative report shows, cardiac information systems “unlock substantial savings, provide physicians with much desired data, and are integral to Center of Excellence practice.” To receive your free copy today visit http://www.lumedx.com/forms/white_paper_request.asp
