Leaders in business intelligence and the cardiovascular space use knowledge exchange and thought leadership in working towards better care and lower costs

OAKLAND, Calif.—October 1, 2019—LUMEDX, a market leader in cardiovascular information systems (CVIS) and cutting-edge business intelligence solutions for more than 25 years, is excited to announce its partnership with MedAxiom, the nation's leading cardiovascular healthcare membership organization and community.

"We are excited to work with MedAxiom towards our shared goal of improving cardiovascular care," said LUMEDX Co-Founder and CEO Allyn McAuley. "Through the Cardiovascular Performance Program, our HealthView Analytics (HVA) platform is currently providing leading U.S. institutions with meaningful insights that are driving better patient outcomes and significant cost savings."

MedAxiom was acquired earlier this year by the American College of Cardiology but continues to operate as a wholly owned, but separately incorporated, for-profit enterprise. From exclusive data and data analytics to program excellence tools and world-class educational events, MedAxiom is dedicated to improving business and patient care outcomes for the cardiovascular community through knowledge sharing and thought leadership.

"LUMEDX is well known for their CVIS products and performance analytics—helping organizations manage costs, quality, and workflows with HVA," said Joe Sasson Ph.D., EVP of MedAxiom Ventures. "We are excited to welcome them as a MedAxiom Industry Partner and bring this powerful product to our membership community."

LUMEDX clients will have an opportunity to learn more about MedAxiom at the CV TransForum Fall '19 conference, October 24-26, in Dana Point, CA.
